

Compliance and e-Disclosure

Creating clarity in electronic Disclosure and Compliance

With many years' of experience in the market leading e-Disclosure and compliance toolsets, TrueSwift consultants have been assisting organisations in the UK, Europe, Middle East and US in this field since 2005.

With increased regulation, companies need a way to simplify the task of email compliance. This may include performing regular, random review of users' email or sampling emails for particular hot words or phrases.

Electronic Legal Discovery (e-Disclosure) is growing in EMEA. With increased litigation, the ability to find and produce data from vast amounts stored in a corporate environment is important. Organisations that are not prepared can experience lengthy and costly discovery searches and in extreme cases face fines when unable to disclose data in a timely manner.

Using a combination of experience and industry leading tools, TrueSwift can help through a variety of services including solution recommendation & implementation through to bespoke training.

The TrueSwift Discovery Service is aimed at customers that do not wish to invest the time or money in training their own staff and instead use our experienced consultants to perform the searches, analytics, marking and export on behalf of the customer.
